MEMORANDUM FOR THE RECORD

SUBJECT:

1. I saw at the Army Navy Country Club on 7 November 1964 and had a chance to chat with him briefly about employment prospects with the Agency. He thoroughly understands our situation and would like to be kept in mind if something develops, but other than that no further specific action is required in this case.

2. I invited him to come out for lunch sometime. He said that he would like very much to do so but that it would have to be sometime after the first of the year since he has accepted a temporary job which will keep him fully occupied for the next two or three months.

Mr.

Personnel forwarded
the attached "draft" for Colonel White's signature to General Polk.

I will retype on Colonel White's personal stationery if it looks OK to you. Do you think he might want to say anything else?

Lieutenant General James H. Polk, USA
United States Commander, Berlin

Dear Jimmy:

Congratulations on your third star, and thanks very much for your letter

You have been correctly informed that we are not in an expansive situation these days, and it is difficult for us to place people in Tom's status. There are several reasons for this: First, we are simply not hiring very many people other than junior officer trainees and specialists of one kind or another. Second, for those few vacancies which do occur at the relatively senior levels we have two or three well-qualified people already standing in line. In addition to all of this, we have what you might call a "hump" in Tom's age group.

I do appreciate your letter, however, and you may be sure that Tom will get every possible consideration.

Let me take this opportunity to thank you for your continued cooperation and support in matters of mutual interest and concern.

Sincerely,

L. K. White

Dear "Red":

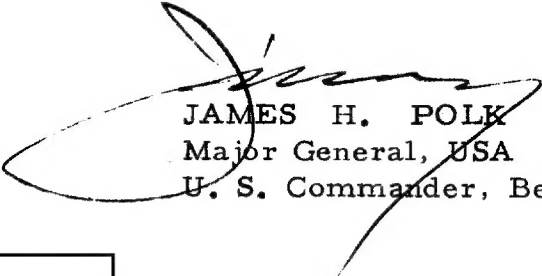

STAT
certain you realize that this is a most demanding and challenging assignment and he has done wonderfully well at it. However, Tom has worked so hard that he has had little or no opportunity to seek civil employment and hence is returning to Washington in early August without any particular prospects.

He mentioned that he would appreciate a letter from me to you about him in the off-chance that you might be able to use his talents in your agency. He has been led to understand that you are cutting back on employment and that jobs are not too easy to get, but he is a very talented and highly intelligent man with considerable experience in your area of interest.

I am enclosing a resume of his past service and he should be getting in contact with you. I would certainly appreciate it if you would give him some help and I am quite sincere in saying that he would make you a wonderful employee, particularly in the analytical and writing areas.

Best wishes and let me know if you are coming this way.

Sincerely,

JAMES H. POLK
Major General, USA
U. S. Commander, Berlin
